

Contributors

Jorge Eduardo Aceves Lozano, (Guadalajara, 1955) obtained his Ph. D. from CIESAS (Center for the Study of Social Anthropology) in Guadalajara (México), and he works as full time researcher at the same institution (Centro de Investigaciones y Estudios Superiores en Antropología Social – Unidad Occidente. www.ciesas.edu.mx y <http://occidente.ciesas.edu.mx>). He specializes in the study of culture and contemporary identities and is currently doing research on work culture and memory in the city of Guadalajara. He has published numerous articles and books on oral history and life history method. He is an active member of the Mexican Oral History Association and is a Level II National Researcher. Jaceves@ciesas.edu.mx

Maria Paula Nascimento Araujo, Ph.D. in Political Science from the University Institute of Research of Rio de Janeiro IUPERJ (1998). Title: “The Fragmented Utopia: New Lefts in Brazil and the World in the ‘70s”. Professor of Contemporary History in the Post Graduation Program of Social History at the Institute of History of the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro (UFRJ), Brazil. Recent Publications: “A Utopia Fragmentada: novas esquerdas no Brasil e no mundo na década de 1970” (RJ, FGV, 2000); “Memórias Estudantis: da fundação da UNE aos nossos dias” (RJ, Relume Dumará, 2007); “História e Memória de Vigário Geral”, em co-autoria com Écio Salles (RJ, Aeroplano, 2008); “1968 – 40 anos depois: História e Memória”, em co-autoria com Carlos Fico (RJ, 7 Letras, 2010) e da coletânea “Ditadura e Democracia na América: balanço histórico e perspectivas”, organizado conjuntamente com Carlos Fico, Samantha Quadrat e Marieta de Moares Ferreira (RJ, FGV, 2008) mp-araujo@uol.com.br

Lorena Almeida Gill, Associate Professor at Universidade Federal de Pelotas, Brazil. Majored in History as undergraduate at Universidade Federal de Pelotas, Ph.D. in History at PUCRS (Pontifical Catholic University of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil). She has a Post-Doctorate from the Università Degli Studi di Siena. Since 1992 she has taught in the Department of History and Anthropology at Universidade Federal de Pelotas. The emphasis in her work is Contemporary History, mostly in the following themes: city, immigration, genre, oral history, health, and disease. She is teacher of the Ciências Sociais Masters degree program, and also the History Masters degree program, both from UFPel. Author of several articles, books and book chapters. Currently is vice director of the Instituto de Ciências Humanas and tutor of the group Diversity and Tolerance. lgill@terra.com.br

Maricela González Félix, Magister. She has carried out research on Chinese immigrants to Mexico, the history of the University of Baja California, and the business elite in Baja California. Two of her most recent publications are: Universidad Autónoma de Baja California. Memoria y testimonio de universitarios. 1957-1997 (2010) and Historias de hombres de negocios en Baja California, 1900-1950 (forthcoming). She has won the Mexicali Centenario Award (2003); and twice, the University Book Award, 2007 and 2010. She is a Ph.D. candidate in history at the Autonomous University of Baja California, Mexico, and works at the Institute for Cultural Research and Museum at the same university. gonzalez_felixmaricela@hotmail.com

Ana Sofía Jemio, is an Argentine Sociologist, and a Ph.D. candidate in Social Sciences at the Universidad de Buenos Aires. She has won a Ph.D. research grant from CONICET (Argentina's research agency), and is a Research Assistant at the Center for the Study of Genocide at the Universidad Tres de Febrero (Argentina), and is a member of the Research Group on Genocide in Tucumán (GIGET). anitajemio@hotmail.com

Robson Laverdi, Doctor in Social History at Universidade Federal Fluminense, UFF, Brazil, Associate Professor at Universidade Estadual do Oeste do Paraná, Brazil. Member of RELAHO - Red Latinoamericana de Historia Oral. robson_laverdi@hotmail.com

Beatriz Ana Loner, Associate professor at Universidade Federal de Pelotas (Federal University of Pelotas), Brazil. Majored in History as an undergraduate at Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul with a master's degree in History from Universidade Estadual de Campinas and a Ph. D in Sociology at Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul (1999). Professor at Universidade Federal de Pelotas (UFPel), and for several years coordinator of the Núcleo de Documentação Histórica of UFPel. Currently, she is a professor of the Ciências Sociais Masters degree program and coordinator of the History Masters degree program, both from UFPel. Experienced in fields of History and Sociology with emphasis in studies of labor, working mainly about the labour movement, transition from slavery to free work, labour currents, and Afro-Brazilian associations. E-mail: bialoner@yahoo.com.br

Mariana Mastrángelo has a Ph.D. in History (Universidad de Buenos Aires), is a professor in the History Department of Facultad de Filosofía y Letras and researcher of Programa de Historia Oral de la UBA. Her specialty is social history, in particular, the study of labor culture of Argentina. She published Rojos en la Córdoba obrera, 1930-1940, Historia oral y militancia política en México y en Argentina y Cultura y política en la Argentina. Los comunistas en la huelga de 1929 en San Francisco-Córdoba and several articles in Argentina, Brasil y México. mariana_mastrangelo@hotmail.com

Gerardo Alberto Médica, Professor of History (I.S.F.D. N° 82 Province of Buenos Aires, 1996). Bachelor of Teaching of History (University of Buenos Aires CAECE, 2002). Member of the Oral History Program at the University of Buenos Aires. Teaching in schools of popular sectors in the district of La Matanza, Buenos Aires since 1991. Recent articles: Co-authored with Nestor Ré, “Is something? Rupture of everyday life stories, pints of view and trauma from the 1955 bombing of the Plaza de Mayo,” Words and Silences, Journal of the International Oral History Association. New Era, Vol. 5, no. 1 (Nov. 2009). gmedik@hotmail.com

Gerardo Necoechea (Mexico City, 1954) studied history and anthropology at the City University of New York and obtained his Ph.D. in history from the Escuela Nacional de Antropología e Historia. He works at a research institute and teaches at the Escuela Nacional de Antropología e Historia, Mexico. He specializes in 19th and 20th century Mexican and US history, and in oral history. He was editor (2002-2010) of the International Oral History Association’s bilingual journal, Words and Silences/Palabras y Silencios. He is the author of a book of essays on oral history (Después de vivir un siglo. Ensayos de historia oral sobre el siglo XX en México, 2005) and is co-editor, with Patricia Pensado, of Voltear al mundo de cabeza: historias de militancia de izquierda en América Latina, (2010). gnecoechea@yahoo.com

Laura Ortiz, graduated in History from the Universidad Nacional de Córdoba, Ph.D. candidate in History at the Universidad de Buenos Aires (Argentina) and CONICET (Argentina’s research agency), she studies labour and “clasismo” in the city of Córdoba. malauraortiz@gmail.com

Alejandra Pisani, is an Argentine Sociologist, and a Ph.D. candidate in Social Sciences at the Universidad de Buenos Aires. She has won a Ph.D. research grant from CONICET (Argentina’s research agency), and is a member of the Research Group on Genocide in Tucumán (GIGET). alepisani@hotmail.com

Pablo Alejandro Pozzi, Ph.D. in History (SUNY at Stony Brook 1989) is a Plenary Full Professor in the History Department of the University of Buenos Aires (Argentina). In addition, he is a member of the Advisory Board to the National Memory Archive (Argentina), and heads the Oral History Program at the University of Buenos Aires. He is currently president of the Argentine Oral History Association. pablo.pozzi@yahoo.com.ar

Viviana Marcela Villegas, Teacher for Primary Education (1989). Student of the career of letters from the University of Lomas de Zamora. School teacher in popular sectors of La Matanza, Buenos Aires. Recent Articles: In couatoria Marta Souto, "My childhood Evita. Dos conversational stories about Ciudad Evita", Journal of the History IAHM Buenos Aires, September 2011.
viviana_5112@hotmail.com